The EPA Section of Suicidology and Suicide Prevention, in collaboration with the Section on Suicidology of the WPA and the National Institute for Health Migration and Poverty, organises the 2nd Roman Forum on Suicide "From research to clinic". The aim will be to create a bridge between the research and the clinical practice in the assessment and treatment of suicidal behaviours.

Future directions of research will be analysed from a biological, public health and health care perspective. Taking into account new research findings, three clinical cases will be presented and discussed.
